

GREENER TRANSPORTATION TIPS

REDUCE YOUR DEPENDENCE ON YOUR CAR!

- Leave your car at home and use public transportation for your commute.
- Consider only the most fuel efficient cars when buying a new car.
- Use the lowest-octane gas recommended for your car. High-octane gas releases more toxic compounds into the air than the lowest octane gas.
- Explore your carpool opportunities with those that you work or go to school with and live nearby you.
- If your errands cover less than a three-mile radius, ride your bike or walk.
- If you own more than one car, always drive the most fuel efficient one whenever it is available to you.
- Keep your tires properly inflated and your engine tuned-up. Doing both improves gas mileage and the later will ensure that fewer emissions are released into the air.
- Drive slower! For every mile per hour driven under 65 mph, a car's fuel efficiency is improved by 2%. If you are driving 55 mph, you can improve your car's fuel efficiency by up to 20%!
